

PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT & CONSULTING SERVICES

In response to client demand, AVANZA is now providing integrated Product Development & Consulting Services (PDCS). These services range in scope from stand-alone assignments intended to augment internal capabilities to strategic relationships managing the development of a compound. By integrating the PDCS expertise with our preclinical drug development services, AVANZA offers clients a comprehensive solution to accelerate their drug development programs.

At AVANZA, we believe that success begins with integrating our client's product knowledge with the aptitude and experience of our extensive network of diverse professionals. This collaboration effectively defines and develops the appropriate preclinical development programs and/or strategies that meet regulatory requirements in a time-efficient and cost-effective manner.

Our practiced professionals have experience with a number of drug candidate types (small molecules, vaccines, and biologics) in a broad range of therapeutic areas (oncology/AIDS, infectious diseases, ophthalmology, immunology, cardiology, anesthesiology, and gastroenterology) for commercial and government clients.

AVANZA Product Development and Consulting Services includes (but is not limited to):

Program Planning, Agency Submissions, and Representation:

- Preparation and review of integrated non-clinical summaries for regulatory agencies
- Representation before the various regulatory agencies
- Safety and efficacy program design and management

Remote and On-Site Staffing Services:

- Utilizing our staff to augment your capabilities either on-site or remotely
- Technical training services
- SOP Development
- Subcontractor identification/assessment and qualification

IACUC and Animal Program Compliance:

- Preparation and/or review of your IACUC process
- Preparation for AAALAC program submission/review
- Support with preparation of annual report submissions

If you don't see it listed here, please contact us with your specific needs.

Contact Us

For more information about AVANZA's Product Development & Consulting Services, call 1.240.364.6360 and ask to talk to an AVANZA representative, email us at info@avanzalaboratories.com or visit us at www.avanzalaboratories.com.